LESSON 21

From The Old Man and the Sea (fiction)
by Ernest Hemingway

Sometimes someone would speak in a boat. But most of the boats were silent except for the dip of the oars. They spread apart after they were out of the mouth of the harbor and each one headed for the part of the ocean where he hoped to find fish. The old man knew he was going far out and he left the smell of the land behind and rowed out into the clean early morning smell of the ocean. He saw the phosphorescence of the Gulfweed in the water as he rowed over the part of the ocean that the fishermen called the great well because there was a sudden deep of seven hundred fathoms where all sorts of fish congregated because of the swirl the current made against the steep walls of the floor of the ocean. Here there were concentrations of shrimp and bait fish and sometimes schools of squid in the deepest holes and these rose close to the surface at night where all the wandering fish fed on them.

In the dark the old man could feel the morning coming and as he rowed he heard the trembling sound as flying fish left the water and the hissing that their stiff set wings made as they soared away in the darkness. He was very fond of flying fish as they were his principal friends on the ocean. He was sorry for the birds, especially the small delicate dark terns that were always flying and looking and almost never finding, and he thought, the birds have a harder life than we do except for the robber birds and the heavy strong ones. Why did they make birds so delicate and fine as those sea swallows when the ocean can be so cruel? She is kind and very beautiful. But she can be so cruel and it comes so suddenly and such birds that fly, dipping and hunting, with their small sad voices are made too delicately for the sea.

He always thought of the sea as la mar which is what people call her in Spanish when they love her. Sometimes those who love her say bad things of her but they are always said as though she were a woman. Some of the younger fishermen, those who used buoys as floats for their lines and had motorboats, bought when the shark livers had brought much money, spoke of her as el mar which is masculine. They spoke of her as a contestant or a place or even an enemy. But the old man always thought of her as feminine and as something that gave or withheld great favours, and if she did wild or wicked things it was because she could not help them. The moon affects her as it does a woman, he thought.

Exercise 1: Context Clues

Read the selection, paying special attention to the words in dark type. These are the Master Words you will study in this lesson. As you read, look for context clues in the sentences and paragraphs around each Master Word. Circle any words and phrases that give clues to the meaning of the Master Words.

Master Words
Place a check by words you feel you know; underline words you don't know.
affect	congregate	delicate	feminine	principal
concentration	contestant	except	harbor	tremble

Exercise 2: Using Context Clues

Fill in the form for each of the Master Words listed below with context clues (if any), your definition, and the dictionary definition. If you have difficulty writing a definition, try using the word in a sentence instead.

1. affect Part of Speech: v. Context Clues: The moon . . . as it does a woman
Your Definition: Answers will vary.
Dictionary Definition: to have an effect on; influence

Exercise 3: Synonyms and Antonyms

Use the synonyms and antonyms in the word list to fill in the blanks except where you see an X.

	Synonyms	Antonyms
1. harbor	haven	open sea
2. affect	influence	X
3. congregate	collect	scatter
4. feminine	female	masculine
5. concentration	gathering	X
6. except	omitting	including
7. tremble	shake	be still
8. contestant	rival	ally
9. principal	chief	least
10. delicate	fragile	hardy

Word List
ally	including
be still	influence
chief	least
collect	masculine
female	omitting
fragile	open sea
gathering	rival
hardy	scatter
haven	shake

Exercise 4: Sentence Completion

From the Master Words, choose the appropriate word for the blank in each of the following sentences. Write the word in the space provided at the right.

- We have vocabulary quizzes every day ...?... Friday.

• • • Exercise 6: Root Word Families

Words belong to families based on their roots. All words from the same root belong to the same root family. The Master Word congregate is but one word in the family of the Latin root stem greg, which means "herd" or "flock." The prefix con- means "together." To congregate literally means "to herd together."

The chart below shows words derived from greg. In the first column in which a word appears, write its definition. Use a dictionary if necessary. The first one is done for you. Then complete the chart by forming adjective, adverb, and/or noun forms for the word. Choose suffixes from each column and write the resulting words. If a part of speech does not apply to a certain word, it is marked with an X.

Verb Form	Adjective Form (+ed, -ious, -arious)	Adverb Form (+ly)	Noun Form (+ation, -ant)
congregate : to herd together	congregated	X	congregation congregant
segregate : to separate from the herd	segregated	X	segregation
X	gregarious : sociable	gregariously	X
X	egregious : glaringly different	egregiously	X

Write About It: Revealing Details

In the passage from The Old Man and the Sea, what is the old man's attitude toward the sea? Using evidence from the passage, write a paragraph describing the narrator's attitude. Use at least three Master Words or words related to the Master Words in your paragraph.

Unit Word Study

Classic Roots and Affixes (con-, centra-, -tion)

The Master Word concentration is based on a form of the word centrum, which means “center.” Together with the prefix con-, which means “with,” and the noun-forming suffix -tion, concentration means “the act of bringing together in a center.” Use this information and your knowledge of common prefixes and suffixes to complete the exercise below.

Matching

Write the letter of the definition after the correct word on the left. Use a dictionary if necessary.

- | | | |
|------------------------|----------|---|
| 1. egocentric | g | a. differing from the rest; off center |
| 2. epicenter | b | b. the point on the surface of the Earth above an earthquake; more generally, the center of something of great importance |
| 3. centrifugal | f | c. relating to the Earth as the center |
| 4. concentric | e | d. relating to the sun as the center |
| 5. eccentric | a | e. relating to circles surrounding circles |
| 6. geocentric | c | f. moving out from the center |
| 7. heliocentric | d | g. centered on oneself |

Writing Definitions

Several other Master Words in this unit begin with the prefix con- or com-, which mean “together” or “with.” These words are commercial, congregate, contestant, and contortion. In the first column of the table below is a list of other words related to the roots of these words. For each one, write a definition. Then write a sentence using the word. Use the dictionary to check your work. One example is done for you.

distortion the bending of something to misrepresent it
His explanation was a distortion of the truth.

Domain-Specific Words

Domain means "territory" in general use, but it means "subject matter" when used in relation to academic studies. Domain-specific words are those that are used in a certain subject area, such as math or science.

In the following table, words 1–3 are from the domain of social studies and words 4–5 are from the domain of science. For each word, work in pairs to write a brief definition in everyday language, give an example, and think of other words like it. Use your textbooks or other sources as needed. The first one is done as an example.

Word	Your Definition in Everyday Language	Example	Other Words Like It
Domain: Social Studies
1. commercial	having to do with business and commerce	The Silk Road created commercial ties.	financial, business-related
2. edict	law, usually given by a monarch or dictator	The king handed down an edict that required all subjects to pay a high tax.	law, command, regulation
3. indigenous	relating to the original inhabitants	Aborigines are the indigenous people of Australia.	native, first, original
Domain: Science
4. generation	the creation of life, energy, or anything else	The generation of electricity is possible with turbine engines.	creation, production
5. hereditary	something inborn, acquired from ancestors	My blue eyes are hereditary.	inborn, innate

Unit Assessment

I. Read the passage below. Then answer questions 1–8.

Do You Believe in Magic?

Studies have shown the healing power of human interaction with domestic horses. Many organizations, staffed entirely by volunteers who receive no commercial benefit from their hard work, have sprung up to train horses for therapy and to provide services to hospitals, senior centers, and hospices. One such program is Gentle Carousel Miniature Therapy Horses in Florida. Their most requested “therapist” is a blue-eyed miniature named Magic.

Though her stature is slight, Magic’s power to affect others is huge. Often when she is brought to visit patients, their exhaustion and despair seem to vanish, replaced with new vigor. For example, one elderly woman had been a resident in a facility for three years and had not spoken a word since arriving. All attempts to get her to speak had been in vain. But when Magic walked into her room, she spoke for the first time, saying, “Isn’t she beautiful!” The woman communicated from then on.

Magic seems to have a mystic capacity for knowing who needs her most. On one visit, Magic headed straight for a young boy who had just learned that his cancer had returned, as if she knew her principal job on that visit was to encourage him to stay hopeful. On another, she spent time with a boy who was losing his sight because of a brain tumor. He just wanted to hold Magic close to his face so he could always remember what she looked like. When children are engaged with Magic, they have at least temporary relief from their problems. One very ill child said that Magic made her smile so much that her face hurt!

The horses at Gentle Carousel are trained from the day they are born so they learn to walk on any surface, take stairs and elevators, keep calm in the midst of excitement, and even to let their handlers know when they need to go outside for a bathroom break. However, no amount of training can teach what Magic seems to know deep inside—who needs her the most.

For her sensitivity and her success helping people, Magic was named as one of Time magazine’s Top 10 Heroic Animals in History. That would not surprise anyone who has ever met her. All are smitten with the miniature mare who shares her spirit so generously.

Unit Assessment

II. Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

Still snuffling, pleading, and reluctant, Mole suffered himself to be dragged back along the road by his imperious companion, who by a flow of cheerful talk and anecdote endeavored to beguile his spirits back and make the weary way seem shorter. When at last it seemed to the Rat that they must be nearing that part of the road where the Mole had been 'held up,' he said, 'Now, no more talking. Business! Use your nose, and give your mind to it.'

They moved on in silence for some little way, when suddenly the Rat was conscious, through his arm that was linked in Mole's, of a faint sort of electric thrill that was passing down that animal's body. Instantly he disengaged himself, fell back a pace, and waited, all attention.

—from The Wind in the Willows by Kenneth Grahame

11. What word is most similar to the word imperious?

- Ⓐ speedy Ⓒ bossy
 Ⓑ ratlike Ⓓ gentle

12. Which word(s) or phrase(s) from the passage best helps the reader understand the meaning of imperious?

- X Ⓐ pleading, reluctant Ⓒ back along the road
 Ⓑ companion, cheerful Ⓓ weary way

13. Which dictionary definition below best matches the use of the word faint in the passage?

- Ⓐ n. a loss of consciousness X Ⓒ adj. weak
 Ⓑ adj. sharp Ⓓ v. lose consciousness

III. Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

14. Which pair of words best completes the blanks in the passage?

- Ⓐ silhouette ... generation X Ⓒ forebears ... generation
 Ⓑ contestants ... gamut Ⓓ forebears ... contortion

15. Which words or phrases from the passage best help the reader answer question 14?

- Ⓐ deep sense Ⓒ build a business
 Ⓑ gratitude, enabling X Ⓓ hand it down, father to son, son to daughter

Unit Assessment

IV. Read the passage below and answer the questions that follow.

It was then that Hook bit him.

Not the pain of this but its unfairness was what dazed Peter. It made him quite helpless. He could only stare, horrified. Every child is affected thus the first time he is treated unfairly. All he thinks he has a right to when he comes to you to be yours is fairness. After you have been unfair to him he will love you again, but he will never afterwards be quite the same boy. No one ever gets over the first unfairness; no one except Peter. He often met it, but he always forgot it. I suppose that was the real difference between him and all the rest.

—from Peter and Wendy by J. M. Barrie

16. What words from the passage help you understand the meaning of the word affected?

- (A) unfairness (C) first time
 (B) helpless, horrified (D) afterwards

17. Based on its use in the text, what is the best definition of except?

- (A) approve of (C) remarkable
 (B) not included (D) without

V. Writing an Argument: The Animal Connection

Most of the readings in this unit involve some interactions between humans and animals—the fisher’s musings about the sea birds in the passage from The Old Man and the Sea (Lesson 21), the sensitivity of the child to the overworked horse in Black Beauty (Lesson 22), the meeting of Marley and his new owners in the passage from Marley and Me (Lesson 24), and the reflections on the horse in Shy Boy: The Horse That Came In from the Wild (Lesson 25) and “Do You Believe in Magic?” on page 128. Though not the focus of the passages, in each of these human-animal situations, controversy brews. What can be done to prevent overfishing? How can cruelty or neglect of horses be dealt with effectively? What laws should govern the breeding of dogs and other animals? How have humans reduced the habitats of animals such as the wild horse, and what can be done to balance the rights of animals and the rights of humans?

Research one of these areas of controversy or another of your choosing related to human-animal interactions and develop an argument presenting your position on the issue. The following words from Unit 5 may be especially helpful in your argument. Use as many as you can to strengthen your writing.

affect	concentration	encourage	hereditary	injustice
assault	delicate	except	imperious	pitiful athleticism	domestic	exhaustion	inbreeding	principal
commercial	edict	grueling	indigenous	wretched

Using Conventions of Standard Language

- Choose among different sentence types (simple, compound, compound-complex) to show the relationships among ideas.
- Use commas to separate coordinate adjectives.
- Eliminate wordiness and redundancy.
