

Matt and Molly Are in a Fast-food Restaurant

- Picture 1 Matt and Molly are in a fast-food restaurant. They both love hamburgers!
- Picture 2 Matt and Molly have to wait in line. When it is their turn, the cashier behind the counter says, “May I take your order?”
- Picture 3 Matt says, “We want two hamburgers, please.” The cashier says, “I am sorry, but we only have one hamburger left.”

Wh- Question

Who should get the last hamburger?

Matt or Molly

(HINT FOR STUDENT — The answer to a “who” question is going to be a person.)

- Picture 4a Molly says, “Matt, you can have the last hamburger. I will have chicken nuggets instead.” Matt says, “Thanks, Molly!”
- Picture 4b Matt says, “Molly, you can have the last hamburger. I will have chicken nuggets instead.” Molly says, “Thanks, Matt!”

Part of Speech — Pronoun

A pronoun is a word that takes the place of a noun.

they their your
I
we you

Suggested Props

Table and two chairs

Counter — table with a toy cash register on top

Burger and nuggets — pretend food

Cashier — apron and chef-type hat

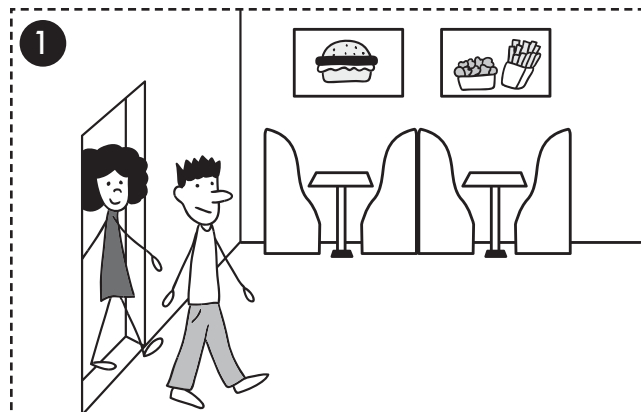

Matt — white T-shirt

Molly — red, pull-on skirt

Homework Sheet

We used the story Matt and Molly Are in a Fast-food Restaurant to practice answering WHO questions this week. Your child answered the WHO question in the story by choosing one of the two endings.

Cut out the pictures. Read the text below picture number one, pointing to the words as you read them. Then lay the picture on the table. Do the same for picture number two and picture number three. Next, ask the WHO question. Show your child picture number 4a and picture number 4b and ask him to choose one. He may tell you his choice, point to it, or touch it with an unsharpened pencil. After your child chooses a picture, say, "Good choice!" Then read the text for that picture and lay the picture on the table. Finally, retell the entire story one more time. For added fun, act out the story with your child!

Matt and Molly are in a fast-food restaurant. They both love hamburgers!

Matt and Molly have to wait in line. When it is their turn, the cashier behind the counter says, "May I take your order?"

Matt says, "We want two hamburgers, please." The cashier says, "I am sorry, but we only have one hamburger left."

Who should get the last hamburger?

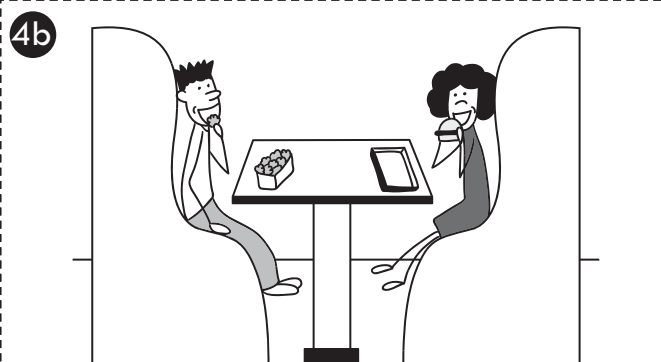

MATT

or

MOLLY

Molly says, "Matt, you can have the last hamburger. I will have chicken nuggets instead." Matt says, "Thanks, Molly!"

Matt says, "Molly, you can have the last hamburger. I will have chicken nuggets instead." Molly says, "Thanks, Matt!"

Matt says, “We want two hamburgers, please.” The cashier says, “I am sorry, but we only have one hamburger left.”

Matt and Molly Are in a Fast-food Restaurant