

The hood
is not good.

A person wearing a dark hoodie is seen from behind, looking at a wall covered in graffiti. The graffiti includes large red and orange letters and abstract shapes. The wall appears to be made of concrete or stone. The scene is dimly lit, suggesting an indoor or shaded outdoor setting.

I should not wear
my hoodie
out in town.

This is what
my mom
keeps saying.
“Black boys
get shot,” she says.

“It happens
a lot.
Every day
in the USA.
Shot for no
reason
by the police.”
