THE FROG PRINCE

by M.G. Higgins

It's a beautiful summer day. I decide to go for a hike.

Of course I have my golden ball.
Yeah, it's a lame toy. But I love it.
I take it everywhere I go. It helps calm my nerves. People say I get overly excited. They may be right.

I follow the trail that leads to the forest. It is not far from my palace. That is where I live with my dad. He is a king, which makes me a princess.

It's a nice forest, not at all creepy. The trees are tall and green. The sun shines through the leaves. I walk for about an hour.

I come to a pond I have never seen before. It's a pretty spot and a good place to rest. So I sit on the bank. My golden ball is next to me.

After a while, I toss it into the air.

Up and down.

Up and down.

I'm just chilling, thinking about nothing.
